the solidity of the bulkheads, continued to float.

"On deck several passengers who happened to be on the port side saw the torpedo when quite close to the ship, one of them even telling his neighbor to look at that great fish swimming toward the ship."

"Everybody who happened to be in the bows disappeared with that portion of the ship, which was engulfed, among others the passengers on the foredeck and in the first class saloon. The men of the crew who were in the forecastle, the lookout in the bows, and the lookout in the crow's nest on the foremast also disappeared."

"The captain who had been knocked down by the column of water resulting from the explosion ordered the crew to their emergency stations. The firemen and engineers went to their stations after having stopped the port engine and closed the draught pipes of the furnaces. At the same time the wireless operator tried to send out distress signals, but without success, the antennae having fallen with the foremast. The crew proceeded to their stations to launch the lifeboats and rafts (there were six lifeboats capable of carrying 184 persons, 22 rafts capable of carrying 264 persons and in addition 816 life belts)."

"A number of pieces of the torpedo were found on board the Sussex, some of them having been landed over to the American delegation which had proceeded to Boulogne, the others will be forwarded to the ministry of marine by the maritime authorities."

"The submarine which torpedoed the Sussex could not be ignorant of the fact that she was attacking the mail packet of the regular cross channel service between England and France; not only are the outlines of these boats well known to all sailors, but the course of the Sussex and the time of her crossing were clearly indicative of her service. It is therefore obviously a premeditated attack on an unarmed merchant ship, carried out without the slightest warning."

"One last fact shows up still more clearly—the premeditated and contemptible character of the submarine's operations. A boat was despatched at 8 p. m. to the Colbart lightship to announce the catastrophe. This boat arrived at the lightship at 11:45 p. m. her crew

BAPTISTS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Glendale Welcomes Gathering of Ministers, to Attend Annual Conference. Many Inspiring Talks Made by Those Present

(Special to The Republican)
GLENDAL, April 5.—The twenty-fourth annual session of the Arizona Baptist Convention started yesterday morning in the first Baptist church of Glendale. Part of the delegates arrived in the sugar city Monday, and part yesterday.

The pastor's conference was called to order by President W. J. Gordon of Clifton. Among the new pastors introduced were J. Lawrence Bell of Phoenix, J. W. Epperly of Flagstaff, J. R. Varney of Phoenix.

Brief remarks were made by Dr. J. Stacey of Ft. Thomas, Field Editor of A. L. Wordsworth of South Pasadena, who is at present making his annual trip to Arizona. Rev. Judson A. Elliott, who came to Arizona nineteen years ago, when there were only five churches in the territory, was also among the speakers.

The first topic of discussion was "How to Promote Evangelistic Spirit in the local church." This was helpfully discussed by Secretary T. F. McCourtney, J. W. Epperly, R. L. Sprolls, R. L. Pope and others. Superintendent C. A. Woody of Portland, Ore., spoke on the plans of the American Baptist Home Mission Society, with reference to evangelism. The second topic of discussion was "Importance of Special Revival Meetings." Rev. L. B. Mathewson of Miami treated the topic in the form of a story entitled, "Some Did and Some Didn't."

The afternoon session started at two o'clock. The first order of the afternoon was a discussion of an "Efficient Church Organization," led by Dr. Geo. R. Varney, of Phoenix. According to Dr. Varney, the ideal church organization contemplates the getting of every member to do some form of personal service in connection with the local church, was gone into. The discussion was continued by Rev. J. W. Epperly of Flagstaff, who called attention to the supreme purpose of the church, viz: The winning of souls to Christ. Many questions were asked.

The following officers for the past year's conference for the following year were elected: Rev. R. L. Pope, Palo Verde, president; Rev. C. M. Northrup, Glendale, vice president; Rev. N. A. Coxsey, Tempe, secretary.

It was decided to hold a summer conference for pastors, in connection with the evangelistic conference.

The closing address of the afternoon was by Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, pastor of the Temple Baptist church, Los Angeles, on "The Kind of a Preacher the People Like."

Spain Sends Protest

INCREASES AUTO TAXES

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]

LONDON, April 6.—Motorists are perturbed over increases in Exchequer McKenna's new taxes on automobiles which, according to trade circles, not only will kill the pleasure of riding but go a long way toward crippling the industry for a long time to come. The new scale doubles the taxes on cars of sixteen horsepower or under, and trebles the tax on cars of over 16 horsepower. The new tax will hit the American cheap cars more than the British cars as virtually all the American machines here come within the category of over 16 horsepower. The tax probably will mean a big drop in the price of second hand machines.

columns at Verdun and makes them accomplish every day new deeds of heroism? Or shall a nation which gave way to the world so many valuable intellectual and useful gifts, which during forty-four years loved peace more than all the others—shall this nation ever might be transformed into barbarians and Hunns?

"No, gentlemen; these are the inventions of the evil conscience of those who are guilty of the war and are now fearing for their power and influence in their own countries."

With respect to the intentions of Germany in the case of Belgium the imperial chancellor said:

"We must create real guarantees that Belgium never shall be a Franco-British vassal, never shall be used as a military or economic fortification against Germany. Also in this respect things cannot be what they were before. Also here, Germany cannot sacrifice the suppressed Flemish race but must assure for them sound evolution which corresponds to their rich natural gifts, which is based on their mother tongue and follows their national character."

We want neighbors who do not form conditions against us, but with whom we collaborate and who collaborate with us to our mutual advantage. Remembrance of the war still will echo, but we shall never allow that this will be a new source of wars—shall not allow it in our mutual interests."

RESCUE BENGALIN'S CREW

LONDON, April 5.—Lloyd's reports that the remainder of the crew of the British bark Bengalin, sunk by a submarine, have been picked up.

A despatch from London Monday said part of the crew of the Bengalin, which sailed from Seattle December 19 for the British Isles had been picked up after the vessel was sunk by a submarine. A Seattle despatch said that the two Americans were in the crew of the bark, the cabin boy and a seaman.

PARENTS PROBLEMS NOTHING TO THIS

Involved in Purchase of Set of Books is Question of Life of Arizona Congress of Mothers

With the purchase of a set of books does the hour become a member of a child welfare circle?

That is the question that arose yesterday when it became known that Miss Mabel Brant, who is introducing in Arizona the "Parents and Their Problems" series published by the National Congress of Mothers. Miss Brant, it is understood, admits every purchaser to a child welfare circle. At present she is not being recognized by the local Parent Teacher circles and other organizations affiliated with the State Congress of Mothers. There is not the slightest friction however between Miss Brant and the officers of the Congress who have invited her to attend the executive board meeting scheduled for Monday.

Mrs. J. C. Norton, president of the Congress and Mrs. Frank T. Alkire, state organizer held a conference with Miss Brant yesterday. Both the local women have for many years advocated the books for which Miss Brant is agent and it is their desire that the series of articles compiled by the foremost educators in the country be placed in as many homes as possible. As far as the organization work is concerned, the matter is not quite clear. According to the state constitution, the circles must pay dues without which the Parent Teacher Associations cannot be affiliated with the Congress. If the ownership of eight volumes means a membership, that membership will not be recognized by the state organization as it is contrary to its laws.

The dues only amount to twenty cents a year, but if discontinued, would eventually mean ruin to the Arizona Congress of Mothers, say the officials.

BILL SIMPSON IS BRANDED SMUGGLER

If William Simpson ever had occasion to read up on the boundary business of the United States and Mexico, and if he knew that even now there is a move to change the line, by purchasing a lot of northern Mexico, he could but regret that the deal had not been closed some time ago.

William Simpson committed the indiscretion of going to a Mexican settlement in Baja, California for his personal use, instead of patronizing industries that were comparatively

"at home" in California del Norte. William Simpson lived at Somerton, south of Yuma, Arizona. After while he will live where Uncle Sam provides board and room for his prisoners.

Simpson was convicted after practically no defense had been made in federal court yesterday. Assistant U. S. Attorneys S. L. Pattee and E. W. Kramer marshaled evidence to show that Simpson had been indulging in the habit of crossing the Colorado river and bringing back loads of booze, beneath his belt and beneath the seat of his surrey. Logan Smith, deputy sheriff at Somerton followed him one night, saw him ferry across the river, and him coming back in the terribly early morning hours, and got his lot of that rightful Mexican whiskey. Smith testified to this. Then, Gonzales, barkeep at the Mexican settlement, told of selling Simpson his supply, taking it from the barrel and bottling it.

The charge was smuggling. Had Simpson brought the same quantities of liquor from a point only a few miles north, he might have escaped all trouble, on the ground of "personal use."
